Remarks
The Chair of Senate, Professor George Comninel, thanked Senators for attending Autumn Convocation ceremonies. With the Equity Sub-Committee poised to consider the question of how aspects of mental health and well-being should be taken up by Senate, the Chair drew attention to an October 29 talk by Drew Dudley followed by an open forum. He advised that the Secretariat will establish a second listserv for Senators to exchange substantive views and Senators were reminded of the protocols for communicating business to Senate and its committees.

The President, Dr. Mamdouh Shoukri, commented on Council of Ontario Universities matters, including the development of a common position on the funding formula review led by Suzanne Herbert. He urged Senators to nominate worthy individuals for honorary degrees, especially women candidates. A number of York alumni had been elected to the House of Commons, and there is optimism that universities will benefit from the new Liberal government’s promise to invest in infrastructure and innovation.

In response to an open letter that was circulated to Senators, the President, Provost and Vice-President Finance and Administration commented on Keele campus facilities, including the future of the bookstore, use of the York Room for dissertation defences, and the possibility of a revived Faculty Club.

The President’s monthly “Kudos Report” can be accessed from the agenda package.
