I would like to be considered for the PhD Completion Fund:

- I have submitted a Graduate Student Financial Profile at <https://gradstudies.yorku.ca/current-students/student-finances/funding-awards/bursaries/> and attached a print out of the form to this application.
- I am a student who is currently outside the priority pool and will have no funding in the last term of my doctoral studies. (Funding includes Fellowships, Scholarships, Teaching Assistantships, Tuition Waiver, other. It excludes bursaries.)

"The CUPE 3903 Ph.D. Completion Fund is to assist members outside the priority pool who have no funding in the last term of their doctoral studies. On the basis of need, funds will be made available to bargaining unit members registering for their final term of eligibility for full-time status in a doctoral program, who have no scholarship or other form of funding, excluding bursaries) from or through the University in that term. The first priority is summer term funding for those bargaining unit members who held a full teaching assistantship in the previous fall/winter terms.

The bursary will be administered by a four-person committee consisting of two members selected by the Union, one full-time faculty member selected by the Employer, and the Dean of Graduate Studies or designate, using procedures approved by the Labour/Management Committee."

Eligible applicants

1. Registered, full-time, fee-paying York graduate students with demonstrated financial need;
2. Excludes students registered in programs with program-specific bursaries (generally, professional programs and programs affiliated with the Schulich School of Business unless they secure a CUPE 3903 assignment).

Amount of allocations

Allocation amounts may vary based on the volume of applications and the number of high-need applications in any given application cycle.

Allocated funds are posted to the student account (STAC) of each successful applicant after adjudication.
